

Lecturer

Dr. Jorge Calvo

Deputy Dean, Professor and Independent Strategic Advisor based in Tokyo, with 33 years' global executive experience in Corporate Strategies for Digital Business Transformation.

Deputy Dean and Faculty of Strategy, Industry 4.0, Operations Strategy. Moonshot Transformation, AI & Robotics Business Innovation and Business Research at GLOBIS University Graduate School of Management, Tokyo, Japan.

Executive in Residence and Professor of Strategy Business Transformation, Department of General Management and Strategy, at ESADE Business School, Barcelona.

Board Director at Japanese Operations Management & Strategy Academic Association.

Independent Strategy Advisor with clients in Japan, Spain and USA (Energy, High-Tech, Chemical, Manufacturing, Retail and Digital Services).

Senior executive background:

- Former President Global Supply Chain Management Division, Executive Officer at Roland DG Corporation Japan (2011-2016).
- Former Chairman, President & CEO at Roland DG EMEA (2009-2012).
- Former President & CEO Roland DG Iberia (1985-2009).

Roland DG is a worldwide leader Japanese company, based in Hamamatsu (Shizuoka). The company develops and produces Large Format Printers, 3D-Printers, CAD/CAM Dental Systems and ecommerce Digital Media Solutions.

Education:

PhD Economics and Business Administration; Universitat Abat Oliba CEU.

MSc Advanced Studies in Business Administration; Universitat Abat Oliba CEU.

MBA Universitat Abat Oliba CEU.

GMP General Management; Harvard Business School.

Member of POMS-JOMSA, CSCMP & NACRA.

Conducting a longitudinal research about Business Transformation driven by AI & IoT and Industry 4.0 in Japan (2016-to date).

Speaker on Strategy & Digital Transformation in Business and Academic Conferences.

Author of two books: "Historic Evolution of Supply Chain Management" and "Wa. The Keys of Japanese Corporate Culture", and several articles.

Websites & Blog:

www.aroundthefuture.com & www.strategy4.org