Emory University's Goizueta Business School was founded in 1919 and is always ranked in TOP 20 business schools in the US. A professor from the university will give a data-science-themed lecture and Keihanna RC will introduce its "Keihanna Innovation Ecosystem" for you and 50 MBA students from the business school.

Program

Welcome speech and lecture on "Keihanna Research Complex"

Dr. Hiroyuki Suzuki [Executive Vice President, Advanced Telecommunications Research Institute International (ATR); and Strategic Director and Leader of Innovation Hub Activity, Keihanna RC]

"Collaboration in entrepreneurship and intrapreneurship in the U.S. "

Prof. Charles Goetz [Senior Lecturer in Organization & Management and Distinguished Lecturer in Entrepreneurship]

Lecturer's Profile

Prof. Charles Goetz

Charles Goetz joined Goizueta Business School in the fall of 2001. Prior to his foray into academia, he had over fifteen years of experience in developing, implementing and growing entrepreneurial ventures. Goetz has been responsible for starting and building nine new ventures to date, employing more than 1,000 employees and delivering returns to investors in many cases far exceeding initial investment expectations. These companies operated in six unique industries including: banking, healthcare, radio broadcasting, sports, real estate and advertising. He has been awarded three patents and numerous copyrights. Goetz is still actively involved in investing in new businesses and sits on a number of both private business and not-for-profit boards.
